We provide models of positive education and contribute to the prevention and decrease of violence against children

Save the Children's initiatives aiming at reducing the violence against children and promoting a positive education, set out in 1999, had the following results: the prohibition by law of physical punishments and humiliations or degrading punishments applied to children (Law 272/2004 on the protection and promotion of the rights of the child), development of 6 counselling centers (Bucharest -2, Iași, Suceava, Timișoara and Târgu-Mureș), over 30.000 children and parents benefited from parental education and psychological therapeutic interventions provided free of charge.

We are contributing to the safe use of Internet by children and ensure the training of the teaching staff

In 2008, Save the Children became the national coordinator of the Sigur.info program endorsed by the European Commission. 111.000 children and 53.000 parents and teachers benefited from information and counselling, while the Helpline operators answered to over 3000 calls made by children, parents of members of the teaching staff. We drafted the first Guideline for online safety in the school environment in Romania, undertaken by the Ministry of Education and Scientific Research and distributed to the 5300 members of the teaching staff participating in the training sessions. We organized summer schools on an annual basis, with the participation of 200 children in Romania and other 11 European countries.

We are developing campaigns and programs for the protection of missing children and victims of children trafficking

As member of the European Federation for Missing and Sexually Exploited Children – Missing Children Europe, Save the Children contributed to the development of the European system for the protection of missing children and created in 2004 a national support and protection system dedicated to children victims of trafficking (11 centers). We informed 50.000 pupils with reference to the risks of child trafficking, and 4.000 children at risk or victims of trafficking benefited from support and psychological and social reintegration. In 2005, we drafted and promoted the Code of Conduct on the elimination of child trafficking and sexual exploitation in the tourism sector.

Taking into consideration the increasingly frequent notification of abuse on children, 5 centers for child and family counselling were created in Bucharest, Iași, Timișoara, Suceava (1999) and Târgu Mureș (2000).

2001

Save the Children becomes the first Romanian organization to adhere to the Global Initiative for the Elimination of Violence against children (www.endcorporalpunishment.org)

2002

The first national study on physical and emotional abuse of children: 84% of children declare to have been beaten by parents, while only 38% of parents admit to it.

Emergency assistance

85% of the children integrated in the program “We grow up together” are developing new communication and social relation skills, while two thirds achieved improved school results.

We help children left at home alone as their parents went to work abroad – the Program “We grow up together”

The departure of parents generates negative consequences, both at emotional and educational and social level. Considering the needs of children, we provide them with psychological and social support in order to overcome the period of separation from their parents, school support, and social activities and encourage communication with the parents working abroad. The program dedicated to children with parents working abroad has included over 4.100 children who benefited from school support and psychological and social counselling in 17 local “School after school” programs.

We provide emergency assistance to families affected by natural disasters

Since 2005 up to present, we have provided direct support to 6.800 children and their families affected by disasters, whose houses and households were destroyed by flood, in Timiș, Călărași, Dolj, Suceava, Botoșani, Vrancea, Iași, Galați and Neamț counties. The interventions comprised the psychological recovery of children, provision of school supplies and hygiene products, reconstruction of the book fund or training of school counsellors.

2 kindergartens (Nănești and Chiselet) and 2 schools (Rast and Nănești) were renovated. We issued a Manual written by children for children (4th – 6th grade) on the methods of protection in case of natural disasters (floods, earthquakes, fire).

We provide support and protection to children of the refugees, relocated persons and asylum seekers

In partnership with the centers of the General Immigration Inspectorate in Bucharest, Galați, Rădăuți and Timișoara, we are carrying out projects aiming at facilitating access to economic and social rights and providing direct support using a more comprehensive range of services, as well as children’s involvement in the social and cultural life of Romanian society. In 17 years of activity, our counsellors provided social, education and recreational services to more than 1600 children originating from countries such as Afghanistan, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Algeria, Pakistan, Turkey, Moldova, Palestine, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Congo, Ukraine, Nigeria, Cameroon, Syria, Rwanda and Sudan.

Save the Children launches the first campaign aiming at informing and raising awareness on violence against children, conveying the message “Bătaia NU e ruptă din Rai!” (Beating is not from heaven!). This led to, in 2004, the banning by law of physical violence against children.

2006

Save the Children presents before the Romanian Parliament a draft law regulating the celebration of June 5th as the National Day against violence on children. The draft law is adopted in December 2006.

2013

A second national research confirms the decrease of the violence phenomenon, yet maintained at a concerning level: 62% of children declare they are victims of physical abuse in their families.

Over 80.000 children have parents working abroad.
Approximately half of them
do not benefit from any type of parental care. Statistics indicate a number three times higher at national level.

Prevention of abandonment

Any child, temporarily or permanently deprived of his/her family environment or who cannot be left in this environment, for his/her own benefit, has the right to protection and special aid from the state. (art. 20, UN Convention on Children's Rights)

We have created services for the protection and family reintegration of homeless or abandoned children

Since 1990, we have mainly focused on homeless children and set out residential institutions for temporary housing of children, with a view to ensure their psychological and social recovery and, further on, their reintegration in families: Gavroche Center in Bucharest (1990-2004) and Club of Children of the street in Craiova (1992-2003). In order to ensure children do not live on the streets, we have formed teams of street social workers, in charge of directly intervening in the street environment, thus facilitating the protection against sexual exploitation or through employment and the social reinsertion of over 4500 homeless children.

We draft sociologic research on the status of children and young persons without a home

As the development of programs involves the understanding of issues faced by the category of beneficiaries the programs are addressed to, Save the Children conducted, throughout time, social research to determine the number of children living on the street, severe forms of employment they are engaged in, as well as their relation with the authorities. The findings became the base of concrete measures identified and initiated in order to diminish the street issue and to ensure the proper protection of children by the authorities.

We provided parental support with a view to prevent the institutionalization of children

Considering the constant degradation of the standard of living in the 1990's, having severe repercussions on families with children, we have created a program to support critical cases with a high risk of abandonment of children in institutions. The program (1991 – 2003) consisted in the organization of Emergency and social assistance Centers meant to provide low-income families with material support (food, essential products, school supplies, clothing), legal counselling or to cover expenses for water or electricity. The key outcome consisted in the prevention of institutionalization of over 15.000 children.

Quality education

We provide children with access to pre-school education

Assuming that access to kindergarten leads to a better integration in school, Save the Children developed the multi-annual program of pre-school education dedicated, particularly, to Roma children originating from socially vulnerable communities.

5.000 children were registered in 240 kindergarten groups

(including summer groups), while 2,650 parents benefited from counselling and material support. For a better understanding of the needs of children from Roma communities, 1.370 educators were trained.

We develop national programs for reintegration in schools and prevention of school dropout

The reintegration of children in school and prevention of school dropout are major objectives set out by Save the Children. To this purpose, Save the Children developed multi-annual programs aiming at facilitating access to school education through the implementation of educational and social services.

16.700 children were included in ”A second chance” and ”School after School” programs while 13.000 parents benefited from material, social, legal and psychological support.

We inform children and young persons on their health

”Education for health” is among our first programs (1992), informing approximately 110.000 children on physical and emotional health, nutrition, sexual education, risks of drug/ ethnobotanics consumption and how to prevent sexually transmitted disease. We set out Counselling centers for young persons and adolescents consuming drugs (Bucharest and Suceava (1992-2002) – innovative psychological-social recovery models.

2001

Save the Children is the first organization to initiate in 2001 in Bucharest groups of intensive education for children who never attended school and exceeded the age of registration in the first primary cycle.

2004

As of 2004, in Mangalia, Save the Children calls Roma children to participate each summer in the first summer kindergarten in Romania, created within a small community where the school attendance of children was below 10%.

2010

The research paper ”Free Education costs!” on the “hidden costs” of the education system, revealed the fact that parents are forced to assign in average the amount of 1,490 Ron each year for school tuitions.

The right to life and health

“I decided to support Save the Children as I have always had a special relation with the children around me. I would like to help premature newborn infants to win the fight for survival and have a chance to a normal life!”

Simona Halep

We save the life of new-born children in Romania by equipping the maternities (2012 – 2014)

With the support of companies and thousands of donors who joined the campaign “Welcome to this world!”, launched in 2012, we succeeded to provide 54 maternities and neonatology facilities with state-of-the-art medical equipment worth of 4,800,000 Ron, thus contributing to the saving of 10.000 children/year. The impact of our efforts would have been impaired without the direct involvement of Amalia Năstase, the program's ambassador. We organized specialized medical training sessions conducted by international speakers dedicated to HCPs from neonatology and intensive care units.

We support pregnant women and young mothers to better care for their children so as to ensure they are healthy

As part of the worldwide campaign Every One, aiming at reducing mortality rate among infants and children under the age of 5, through the program “Every child matters” we reached 31 disadvantaged communities from Botoșani, Iași, Neamț, Suceava, Vaslui, Vrancea, Brașov, Caraș Severin and Dâmbovița counties, in partnership with the public health directorates operating in these counties. With the help of medical staff, we informed pregnant women and young mothers on measures to ensure the prevention of diseases and application of children hygiene and care rules. During 2010 – 2014, we supported 9000 children and 3000 mothers and pregnant women.

We provide social and medical counselling and support to children and members of their families from disadvantaged communities

We are preventing the transmission of tuberculosis among members of the disadvantaged communities, as well as homeless children/young persons, both by informing them on means of transmission and symptoms of the disease, as well as by identifying the persons affected by TB and providing them with treatment and psychological and social support necessary to ensure the timely and successful completion of the TB therapy (1600 persons informed and 320 patients diagnosed). Created in 1996, Casa Roxana is an alternate family model for children with HIV/AIDS abandoned in hospitals, offering protection to 15 children and adolescents.

Save the Children launches the program “Every child matters” aiming at reducing the infant mortality rate so as to ensure the right to life, to medical assistance and proper care for new born children.

2014

Save the Children obtains the setting out, within the Ministry of Health, of a Division for woman and child health, with a main objective to improve policies on the healthcare of women and children.

Impact

Since the initiation of the program Every Child Matters, no cases of infant mortality have been registered within the localities included in the program.

Volunteering. Children's rights

"The volunteering activity is a corner stone in my development as a HUMAN!"

Laura Dinu, 17 years of age, volunteer

"In my opinion, volunteering is a gesture made by those that are willing to share from the heart and unconditionally so that other persons may lead a better life."

Laura Evelina Armeanu
19 years of age, volunteer

For Save the Children, the volunteers are major partners in protecting children's rights

We encourage children to promote and defend their rights

The organization's projects and events benefited from the involvement of over 45.000 volunteers, who interacted with hundreds of thousands of children, parents, members of the teaching staff and representatives of authorities. As of 2002, The National volunteering Center, organized recruitment and training campaigns dedicated to children and young persons, enabling them to be part of volunteering activities for which they were selected (programs and actions dedicated to children, campaigns, events or fairs).

The participation of children to the process of decision-making in relation to their rights, as well as their direct involvement in the promotion and protection of their rights are the main outlines in our activity. Since 1990, Save the Children has promoted through the program "We too have rights" the principles highlighted by the UN Convention on the Rights of the Children, by informing and engaging in promotion activities 800.000 children and 40.000 parents. The National Forum of Children (14 editions) offered the 1,500 children participating in the program the opportunity to analyze the compliance with children's rights and to communicate their recommendations to the relevant authorities. Over 300 members of the teaching staff benefited from professional training through courses certified by the Ministry of Education and Research.

Based on current children's rights-related topics, we organized 14 editions of the Global Campaign for Education, an international movement within which Save the Children is coordinator for Romania.

Save the Children creates the National Center for Volunteers with the purpose to develop recruitment campaigns and ensure the recruitment and training of volunteers at national level.

2008

Save the Children launches the www.evolutar.ro portal, aiming at promoting volunteering opportunities available within programs implemented by various players of the volunteering movement in Romania.

2014

Save the Children has significantly contributed to the national volunteering movement, by participating in the drafting of chapters on the involvement of young persons in voluntary activities, within the Law of Volunteering 195/2001, as subsequently amended in 2014.

Our subsidiaries...

Argeş

President - Dumitra Sima

One of the most important programs carried out by this subsidiary is dedicated to the promotion of children's rights "We too have rights", the first program initiating our activity 24 years ago. We successfully implemented it within the majority of schools and high-schools in Piteşti, and further on extended it over the past several years, at kindergartens.

Braşov

President - Anca Timiş

Our subsidiary has been involved in the implementation of numerous educational projects in collaboration with local or international organization. Our subsidiary excelled through educational projects, implemented within schools and kindergartens with the help of volunteers, through which children learned by creating artistic forms of expression (drawing, music, theater, plastic collage, intercultural manifestations etc.) that all children have the right to an identity, family and health, education, recreation, rest and vacation.

Caraş-Severin

President - Măriuţa Simionescu

The activities with and for children carried out by Caraş Severin Subsidiary within the 20 years of existence focused on key priorities such as prevention of abandonment, reintegration in school and support of children with parents working abroad. Constanţa Hunedoara Subsidiary is the most recent set out organization among the 13 in total, initiated in 2000 in Petrila city. Why Petrila? Because this mining area, significantly affected by economic bankruptcy and unemployment, needed help the most. Save the Children SAVED over 1500 children from 650 families. We created The Daycare Center for challenged children, the first certified center across the county. Here, the children benefited from social and educational activities and summer camps (13 editions), while the parents participated in counselling sessions and were provided material support.

Iaşi

President - Ioana Atasiei

Iaşi Subsidiary played an important part within the local community, stimulating the development of civic spirit and social involvement. 25 years of activity formed a great family where experts, volunteers, partners and

Kind-hearted people make a better world

“As a member of the event organization committee alongside Andi Moisescu, Amalia Năstase or Crina Bârlădeanu, I have the opportunity to get my share of joy each year by understanding how much good can solidarity do! However, this gala is different from any other charity event due to the involvement of designers and their passion in creating the Christmas trees sold by auction.”

Andreea Raicu

The Festival of Christmas Trees

Children comprise one of the most vulnerable social categories in Romania, as over half of them are at risk of poverty or social exclusion. In its attempt to stop this phenomenon, Save the Children Romania has been making efforts for 20 years to ensure their reintegration in school. And the main fund driver of our educational programs dedicated to disadvantaged children is the Festival of Christmas Trees.

The story of this Festival began in 2001 when Save the Children took over a success idea of the colleagues from Save the Children UK to develop a unique fund raising event for the final purpose of supporting the education of children living in vulnerable social environment.

The Festival of Christmas Trees is focused on a special auction of Christmas trees (over 300 in total) resulted from the imagination and creative spirit of tens of Romanian designers associated with our cause.

The 14 editions of the Christmas Tree Festival led to the collection of 3,104,000 Euro invested in programs for protection and education of children. Thus, over 20,000 children were (re)integrated in schools (programs A second chance and School after School) and the school abandonment rate was reduced among the disadvantaged communities (Summer Kindergartens).

We take this opportunity to thank all our sponsors, media partners, designers and, last but not least, the Festival organization committee for the dedication and generosity they share each year.

3.104.000 € were collected throughout the 14 editions supporting families and reintegration in schools of 20.000 children.

Protecția împotriva violenței

Nivelul scăzut de educație, sănătate, lipsa de informații cu privire la drepturile copilului, protecția copilului și metodele alternative de creștere și educare a copiilor – sunt doar câteva dintre factorii de risc pentru apariția de comportamente cu impact negativ asupra dezvoltării copiilor, comportamente ce reprezintă grave încălcări ale procedurilor Convenției asupra drepturilor copilului.
